ATTRIBUTION COMMENTARY

The stock selection (i.e., overweight and underweight positions relative to Benchmark) within the Fund dominated the active return of -0.52%. The sector positioning in the Fund contributed +0.02% of active return, whereas stock selection contributed -0.54% of active return.

Overweight positions in Nine Entertainment Co. (NEC) and Independence Group NL (IGO) contributed the most to the -0.52% of underperformance over the quarter. NEC had appeared attractive on our valuation metrics, but the company announced poor profit guidance in June.

LARGEST DETRACTORS

Company	Fund Average Weight (%)	Benchmark Average Weight (%)	Contribution (%)
Nine Entertainment Co.	0.91	0.09	-0.49
Independence Group NL	1.62	0.08	-0.38
Ansell Ltd	1.92	0.28	-0.23
ANZ Banking Group	8.18	6.28	-0.21
Magellan Financial Group	1.99	0.16	-0.21

While the earnings outlook is still for the delivery of over $285 million of EBITDA for the year ended 30 June, this was short of the $310 million originally indicated by the company. Such an event caused our valuation metric to reset and the overweight position has subsequently been reduced.

IGO suffered during the quarter after it announced its largest ever transaction. The company mounted a $1.5 billion takeover of competitor Sirius Resources NL. The transaction is still pending. While analysts have cut their earnings forecasts for the combined entity, IGO remains fundamentally cheap. The Fund continues to have an overweight position, however, this has also been reduced over the quarter.

Underweight positions in the Consumer Staples (Woolworths Ltd and Wesfarmers Ltd) sector and overweight positions in the Materials (Evolution Mining Ltd and Nufarm Ltd) and Industrials (Qantas Airways Ltd and Downer EDI Ltd) sectors contributed positively to active return. However, overweight positions in the Consumer Discretionary (Nine Entertainment Co. and Slater & Gordon Ltd) and Financials (Magellan Financial Group, ANZ Banking Group and National Australia Bank Ltd) sectors contributed negatively to active return.

Although underweight the Health Care sector overall, overweight positions in certain Health Care companies (Ansell Ltd, ResMed Inc, Healthscope Ltd, Mayne Pharma Group Ltd and Regis Healthcare Ltd) contributed negatively to active return. Underweight positions in other Health Care companies (CSL Ltd and Ramsay Health Care Ltd) contributed positively to active return.
